

3/1/24	Rachel Sackrowitz, MD UPMC Critical Care Medicine	“Sepsis Update”	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Explain why sepsis early recognition and management is important at UPMC.• Identify tools and processes used to recognize and treat patients with possible sepsis.• Explain the role of data in relation to process adherence, accountability, and outcomes	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Worth one (1) AMA PRA Category 1 Credit•Worth (1) ANCC Credit•Worth 1 AAPA Credit•Worth one (1) Patient Safety/Risk Management Credit
3/8/24	Elizabeth Tupper, MD PGY-3 UPMC Williamsport Family Medicine Residency	“Labor of Love: Physical and Psychological Support During Labor and Delivery”	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• List the most common presenting symptoms of this protean disorder• Outline the differential diagnosis and the appropriate lab workup when considering this diagnosis• Describe the appropriate use and the MOA and toxicities of antimalarials in the treatment of lupus• Outline the serious visceral complications of SLE, the prognosis and a diagnostic approach to each• Describe the current strategies for treatment of both mild and severe lupus, including cytotoxic drugs and monoclonal antibodies	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Worth one (1) AMA PRA Category 1 Credit•Worth (1) ANCC Credit•Worth 1 AAPA Credit•Worth one (1) Patient Safety/Risk Management Credit
3/15/24	Amr Sawalha, MD Children’s Hospital Peds Rheumatology	“Systemic Lupus Erythematosus”	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• List the most common presenting symptoms of this protean disorder• Outline the differential diagnosis and the appropriate lab workup when considering this diagnosis• Describe the appropriate use and the MOA and toxicities of antimalarials in the treatment of lupus• Outline the serious visceral complications of SLE, the prognosis and a diagnostic approach to each• Describe the current strategies for treatment of both mild and severe lupus, including cytotoxic drugs and monoclonal antibodies	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Worth one (1) AMA PRA Category 1 Credit•Worth (1) ANCC Credit•Worth 1 AAPA Credit
3/22/24	Robyn Domsic, MD	“Progressive Systemic Sclerosis”	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• List the presenting symptoms of both limited and systemic scleroderma and describe the early and late physical findings• Outline the differential diagnosis and the typical lab abnormalities seen in this spectrum of disorders• List the visceral involvement seen in advanced phases and the appropriate treatment of Raynaud’s, GERD, skin involvement, and early lung pathology• Strategize an approach to referral and treatment of advanced cases of systemic sclerosis	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Worth one (1) AMA PRA Category 1 Credit•Worth (1) ANCC Credit•Worth 1 AAPA Credit
3/29/24	Sebastian Sattui, MD UPMC Division of Rheumatology and Clinical Immunology	“Polymyalgia Rheumatica and Giant Cell Arteritis”	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Describe current epidemiology and clinical presentation of PMR and GCA• Summarize current diagnostic approach and recommendations in the evaluation of patients with suspected PMR and/or GCA• Describe the current approach to the treatment of PMR and GCA	<ul style="list-style-type: none">•Worth one (1) AMA PRA Category 1 Credit•Worth (1) ANCC Credit•Worth 1 AAPA Credit