You will learn about the different types of anesthesia you may receive and the steps to care for yourself before and after surgery to help speed up your recovery.

Important Information

For your health and safety, please follow the instructions below. If you do not follow the instructions, your surgery may need to be postponed or canceled.

- Medicines - Some medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements should be stopped before surgery. Please check with your surgeon or primary care provider (PCP) before surgery. Please only take medicines as instructed by your doctor and preadmission nurse.
- Changes in Your Health - Let your surgeon's office know if you have any symptoms of a cold, fever, or infection, or if you have any changes in the level of your pain, numbness, or sensitivity.
- What to Bring - Remember to bring your x-ray/CT/MRI films and blood band the day of your surgery if you are told to do so.

- Anesthesia - If you are having any type of sedation or anesthesia, you cannot drive and must have a responsible adult take you home. If you are taking public transportation (such as the bus or UBER®), you must have a responsible adult accompany you. You must have a responsible person 18 years or older stay with you for 24 hours after your surgery.

The UPMC Disabilities Resource Center

The UPMC Disabilities Resource Center (DRC) makes sure that health care is accessible to people with disabilities, including those who are deaf, hard of hearing, blind or have low vision, or those with mobility, speech, intellectual, cognitive, or behavioral disabilities. We offer accessibility, communication, and hearing assistance resources. Please let a staff member know of your needs.

Service Animals

Service animals, as defined by the Americans with Disabilities Act, are welcome in all public areas within UPMC facilities and in your room. Animals must be housebroken and under the control of their owner. If the owner is unable to care for the animal during their stay or visit, another person must be designated to do so. UPMC staff are not required to care for service animals.

For more information, visit UPMC.com/DRC or call 412-605-1483.

Rovers: A Tool to Support Your Care

You may see us using mobile phones while caring for you. These devices are called Rovers. They are a secure, mobile extension of our electronic health record system.

Rovers help us provide safer and more accurate care right at your bedside. Even when we are using them, we are still listening and focused on you. If you have any questions, please ask.

We believe in, support, and promote dignity, inclusion, and belonging. Kindness and respect are expected from—and for—all who enter our doors.

Testing Before Surgery

Your surgeon may ask that you have testing done before your surgery. This is to make sure that you are safe for surgery. Some of these tests may include blood tests, EKGs, x-rays, or CT scans. You may also be asked to schedule other tests if your surgeon thinks they are needed.

When You Arrive

1. Enter the hospital through the front Main Entrance.
2. When you turn left, check in at registration or at the kiosk. When your name is called, a staff member will take you to a private room where you will remove all clothing and undergarments and change into a gown.
3. A member of the care team will then take your vital signs and complete any other orders your surgeon has asked for.
4. You will see members of the surgical and anesthesia teams, who will explain the details of the surgery and anesthesia, including the risks and benefits. Please ask any questions you may have about your surgery.

5. Your support person will be given an assigned ID number. This ID number will be displayed on the tracking board in the waiting room and will track your progress through your surgery.

6. Your support person may visit you while you are waiting to be taken to the Operating Room (OR) once you are fully prepped by the care team. A nurse will call them back when they are able to visit you.

Anesthesia

An anesthesia specialist will talk with you about anesthesia, which is used to relax you and block pain. They may also start an IV in your vein. There are several types of anesthesia that may be used for surgery:

- Local anesthesia numbs a small part of the body for minor procedures. You may get a shot or cream applied to the area to block pain. You may stay awake during the procedure.
- Regional and neuraxial (epidural or spinal) anesthesia blocks pain to a larger part of your body. You may also get medicine to help you relax or sleep. Types of regional anesthesia include:
 - > A nerve block, which is a shot to block pain around a specific nerve or group of nerves, often used for surgeries on the hands, arms, feet, legs, or face.
 - > Epidural or spinal anesthesia, which is a shot near the spinal cord and the nerves that connect to it. It blocks pain from an entire region of the body, such as the belly, hips, or legs.

- Conscious sedation helps you relax and makes you sleepy, but often you are not fully asleep. It is usually given by IV. This type of medicine allows you to recover quickly from your procedure and return to regular activities sooner.
- General anesthesia affects your brain and body. You may get it through an IV in your vein or by breathing it in. You will be asleep and will not feel pain during the surgery or remember it afterward.

The type of anesthesia used depends on your health history and the type of surgery. Major side effects are rare, especially if you are in good health. Minor side effects like sore throat, vomiting, or headache might occur.

After the procedure, the anesthesia medicines will be stopped. How fast it wears off depends on the anesthesia used, your age, health, and how you react to it. Everyone is different.

The Surgery

- You will be taken to the Operating Room (OR) and cared for by specially-trained staff.
- No support persons are allowed in the OR. After your surgery, your surgeon will let them know how you are doing.
- Support persons should stay on campus at all times during your procedure. If your support person leaves the waiting area, they should let the receptionist know and leave a phone number where they can be reached.

After Your Surgery

- You will be taken to Post-Op. Your length of stay in Post-Op depends on the type of surgery you had and anesthesia you received. Please let your nurse know how you are feeling, including any pain or nausea.

Overnight Stay

If the care you need after surgery requires you to stay overnight, you will be moved from Post-Op to a hospital room. Your support person(s) will be able to see you when you leave Post-Op.

If your support person(s) needs a place to stay near the hospital, there are hotels close by. You can ask a member of your care team for more information and help with finding accommodations.
